FOUR TOWNS MAY COMBINE IN CONSTRUCTING PLANT

State Health Commissioner Dixon Advises Charleroi, North Charleroi, Monessen and Donora to Confer

COMMITTEE WILL TAKE UP THE MATTER

State Health Commissioner Samuel G. Dixon in a letter recently sent out to the councils of the boroughs of Charleroi, North Charleroi, Monessen, and Donora, has advised that the four towns erect conjunctively a sewage disposal plant and it is likely that some time in the near future a committee from the Charleroi council, consisting of Charles O. Frye, Dr. A. O. Davis and W. H. Calvert, will meet in a few days to talk over the matter, previous to arranging for such a meeting.

According to Dr. Dixon, the situation of the four towns is such that there would be little difficulty in constructing and operating a sewage disposal plant jointly, and with infinitely less expense than separately. One man can operate a plant, which to erect costs about $50,000 or $60,000.

Some time ago the State Department of Health issued a permit to the borough of Charleroi to extend its sewer system under conditions prescribed by them and to discharge sewage into the river, untreated, subject to certain conditions. These conditions are:

1. All roof and storm water shall be excluded from the sewer extensions herein approved.

2. On or before November 1, 1910, the borough shall either alone or in conjunction with other municipalities prepare a comprehensive sewerage plan for the collection and disposal of all sewage from its territory and submit the same to the Commissioner of Health for approval.

3. This permit to discharge sewage into the waters of the State shall cease on November 1, 1910. If on said date the terms of this permit shall have been complied with then, the time may be extended in which sewage may continue to be discharged into the sewer system. The proper authorities shall cause these wastes to be destroyed on the premises.

The borough of North Charleroi has been refused a sewer extension permit and is expected to at once make plans for a sewage disposal plant alone, or conjunctively with other municipalities.

Monessen to Have Carnival

Great and Glorious Aggregation of Unexcelled Attractions—So They Say

Monessen, which has been rejoicing over the fact that carnival companies have given it a wide berth so far this summer, is to have a carnival. Smith's Greater shows, coming from heaven knows where, is booked with its great stupendous and most wonderful shows in the world to exhibit there next week and for the firemen. The affair has been advertised, but just where the carnival is to show in Monessen seems to be a mystery. It is not generally supposed it will be on the streets and it may have to go outside the borough limits, as a company did last year which showed there. The present company does not mention the word clean in its advertisement.

CHARLEROI MAN IS WEDDED IN OHIO TOWN

Howard W. Wilson of Charleroi and Miss Daisy Bougher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Bougher of Steubenville, were married yesterday at the Holy Name Catholic church, Steubenville, by Rev. Joseph A. Weigand. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride by her parents, and the couple left later for a month's wedding trip. They will return to Charleroi to live.

Frank Barnett has gone to Homestead where he will spend some time visiting his brother, J. A. Barnett.

Engine Cab is Wrecked

Local Freight Locomotive Fails to Clear Car at Switch

While entering a switch at Mountsier's store, near Third street last night, a local freight engine had the cab almost wrenched off by a sideswipe with a freight car. The car was standing too near the switch, on another track from that on which the engine was backing cars, and the side of the cab struck. The fireman jumped from the locomotive when he saw a collision was inevitable, but the engine, H. Coleman, stuck to his engine, and escaped by lying prostrate on the floor.

Who's Who And Why Man Discusses Tener

TEACHERS ELECTED TO FILL VACANCIES

High School Instructor, Primary and a Grade Teacher Chosen at Busy Session Last Night

With the election of three teachers to fill vacancies in the schools and the reading of the report of the auditors for the fiscal year just ended, the school board had a busy session last night.

One of the vacancies filled was that of a High School teacher. For this W. A. Swick, a graduate of Allegheny college, was elected. He comes with many recommendations and has had some experience in High School work, specializing on the sciences and Latin. This completes the High School faculty. Donald C. Willard, from the eastern part of the State, was recently elected principal and Miss Mary Walters, one of the teachers last year, was re-elected to a position.

BOY AND MAN VICTIMS OF MAD DOG NEAR BEALLSVILLE

Animal Attacks Young Lad as He Plays in Yard With Sister, Tearing His Flesh and Badly Wounding Him

Bitten by a dog supposedly mad, Clark Lancaster, a Beallsville blacksmith, and Russell Horton, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horton of near Beallsville, are at the Pasteur institute in Pittsburg, taking treatment. They were bitten yesterday by a small yellow dog, the boy being attacked while at play in his father's yard, and Lancaster, as he was going to kill the brute.

The first seen of the cur was when it started in pursuit of a buggy driven by Miss Ella Floyd, going from Centerville to Beallsville. She was frightened and whipped up the horse, but the dog trotted closely behind, white decks of froth dropping from its lips. At the residence of Charles Horton, the dog suddenly swerved, and entering the yard dashed toward a swing in which Russell Horton and his little sister Nellie were playing. The animal viciously attacked the boy, while the girl ran screaming into the house. Pulling the little fellow off his seat, the mad animal bit him again and again, tearing the flesh and wounding him in many places. Then leaving him prostrate on the ground the dog loped away before aid could be extended to the child.

Telephone messages were sent to Beallsville and when the animal approached there it was met by a score of more or men armed with guns, staves and other missiles. Despite their efforts to kill it the dog continued its course and at the center of the town attacked Clark Lancaster as he was trying to shoot it. Then wounded by numerous bullets the animal fell dead. Dr. H. W. Brashear of Centerville attended the boy and Dr. H. C. Frye of Beallsville cared for Lancaster's injuries, and leaving Beallsville at about 9:30 o'clock last evening both were taken to Pittsburg in L. C. Noble's automobile. The head of the dog was taken to be examined.

Lancaster is well known in Charleroi, being a brother-in-law of James and George Dawson both of Lookout avenue.

HOPE TO SAVE OLD BLACK HORSE TAVERN FROM BEING TORN DOWN

Plans on Foot to Make Noted Canonsburg Inn Museum in Which to Keep Relics of the Whiskey Insurrection

A movement has been started and the most prominent man of Washington county, marched upon the home of Gen. Neville at Bower Hill, near Pittsburg, attacked the garrison and burned the Neville home. The leader of the insurrectionists, Col. McMillan, was killed and they were routed. Col. McMillan's grave is still to be located in the cemetery at Mingo, through which the Pittsburg-Charleroi car pass every day. At the church there was one of the rendezvous of the citizens of the river district where a revolt was planned against the United States government.

Mad Anthony Wayne was sent by Gen. Washington at the head of a large body of Federal troops to suppress the insurrection and restore order. The whole Western country was at a fever of excitement over the raid, but conservative men of Washington county succeeded in suppressing the hot heads before the Federal troops arrived. Gen. Neville, enraged over the attack, dispatched mail bags to Gen. Washington, enclosing the names of many prominent Washington county citizens, whom he charged with treason. The insurrectionists intercepted these mail bags, took them to the Black Horse Tavern at Canonsburg, rifled the sacks and destroyed the letters which mentioned the names of the insurrectionists.

Gen. Washington, because of his possession of large tracts of land in Washington county, his regard for

SCHOOL FINANCES FOUND TO BE IN GOOD CONDITION

Auditors Complete Work and Make Their Report for the Fiscal Year Just Terminated

TOTAL RECEIPTS, SCHOOL, OVER $37,000

The school board at their meeting last night heard the report of the auditors for the fiscal year just closed, and accepted the report.

By the report the school finances are shown to be in good shape. The total ordinary expenditures during the year for school were $31,538.24 and the extraordinary expenditures, school, were $2,550.91. The balance in the treasury June 6, 1910, school, was $514.94 and the excess receipts $3,180.11, making the total expenditures for school $37,784.20. The extraordinary expenditures consist of the payment of a loan of $2,500, interest on the loan and some other incidentals.

The ordinary expenditures for building were $15,479.23 and the extraordinary expenditures were $1,750. The balance in the treasury, building, June 6, 1910, was $257.47 and the grand total expenditures for building was $17,486.70. The extraordinary expenditures consisted of improvements and repairs at the Second and Crest avenue schools.

The total liabilities, school, is $14,699.82 and of building $244,914.79. In the latter is included bonds and interest on bonds in the sum of $93,500. The net present worth of schools is $14,646.57, and of buildings is $150,799.79.

The total ordinary receipts during the year for school were $37,317.05 and the extraordinary receipts $31.97. With cash in the treasury at the beginning of the year of $455.18, the total receipts, school, are $37,784.30.

The ordinary receipts, building, total $14,114.15 and the extraordinary receipts, $13.35. With cash in the treasury at the beginning of the year of $174.07, and an excess in expenditures of $3,180.11, the total receipts, building, were $17,486.70. The resources, school, are $14,699.82 and building, $24,491.79. In building is represented a real estate estimated worth of $230,000.

The number of scholars in attendance during the year was 2,017, and the average daily attendance 1,613. The auditors are H. F. Parsons, J. G. Albright and Harry Hormell.

Tener Will Hear He is Nominated

Americus Club at Pittsburg Arranging to Entertain June 23

Congressman John K. Tener of Charleroi will be officially notified in Pittsburg of his nomination as the Republican candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The program will be carried out at the headquarters of the Americus Club, and the date will be July 23 at 2 p. m. Mayor William A. Magee, president of the Americus Club, is completing arrangements for the notification. Gov. Edwin S. Stuart and United States Senators Boise Penrose and George T. Oliver are expected to be present.

Henry F. Walton, Republican State chairman, and Secretary W. Harry Baker are looking after the general details of the notification. While it has been suggested that the other State Republican candidates be notified on the same occasion, arrangements for this have not been completed.

There had been a suggestion that the Tener notification take place in Philadelphia, or in his home town of Charleroi, but as Pittsburg also claims him as practically her own, it was decided finally that the event should be held there.

Beallsville

Mrs. Ballinger of Pittsburg and Mrs. McIntyre of Washington were guests of Mrs. J. S. Allison, Bentleyville.

Mrs. Harry Richardson of near Ellsworth returned Sunday evening from Beaver county, where she had been visiting her parents, Judge and Mrs. R. S. Holt.

Mrs. W. E. Henderson of Pittsburg is a guest of Mrs. Thomas Frye, of Bentleyville.

Miss Maude Young of Butler is a guest of friends at Ellsworth.

Work of Razing to Begin Soon

Rivermen Elated by Announcement That Bridge Will be Torn Down

The work of tearing down the old wooden bridge at Brownsville will begin about the first of August, by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, which recently purchased the structure, according to announcement made yesterday. The news was received by rivermen with much elation, from the fact that the bridge has been a hindrance to navigation for some time, and more so after the completion of the new lock and dam at Brownsville. It is not expected that it will take long to raze the bridge, but it will destroy one of the landmarks and the only connection across the Monongahela river of the old national pike. Efforts are being made by citizens of Brownsville and West Brownsville to have a free bridge erected by the two counties of Fayette and Washington.

"WEE FIVE" HOLD DANCE AT ELDORA

The "Wee Five" club of Monongahela, consisting of five well known young men of that town, gave a dance at Eldora Park last night, which was well attended by many from along the valley, and which was a brilliant social success. Dancing was from early evening until after the midnight hour. Many were present from this vicinity and other places to attend the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Flohr of Washington avenue announce the marriage of their daughter Edith to Albert Smith of Detroit, Mich., Monday, July 11, at Windsor, Canada.

Should Be Preserved

The movement on the part of patriotic citizens of Washington and Allegheny counties to preserve the famous Black Horse Tavern at Canonsburg which is to be razed to make room for a school building, is one that should meet with encouragement and support. The proposition is to convert it into a museum of relics of the Whiskey Insurrection.
There are numerous patriotic societies, as well as individuals, who ought to take the lead in this matter, and the historic inn that has sheltered the great Washington on more than one occasion and gave him an intimate knowledge of the people he was afterward called upon to suppress in rebellion, is of sufficient importance to be preserved.

It was because of this intimate knowledge and acquaintance with the people that Washington was able to harmonize that revolt with so little friction and disturbance. It was here that his wisdom and statesmanship were exercised, and he used his influence to minimize the penalties and proscriptions that go with offenses of this kind. The people of Washington and Allegheny counties were guilty of rank treason. In most instances they would have been dealt with harshly, with effects that would have lasted for generations. But the great Washington treated the matter as a neighborly indiscretion, and while he insisted upon obedience to the law, the faults were condoned upon compliance with the regulations and subsequent good behavior.

As a reminder of what good sense and an understanding of human nature can do in most instances of dispute, the historic Black Horse Inn should be preserved. It was within the shelter of its walls that Washington became acquainted with the people of this county, and when treason was hatched with the same confines the great leader knew how to deal with it.
The old inn will serve as a gentle reminder of how the Father of his Country was great in peace as well as in war.

"Ferninst" the Government

It is a noteworthy fact that when persons become imbued with the idea of social or political reform, they immediately become arrayed against the government, and consequently are opposed to everything that is.

As a consequence their time is consumed in spreading the propaganda of inveective, and they become obstruc-tionists, making more or less of a ripple upon the sea of circumstance, but nevertheless swept onward against their will with the buffeting waves of predestined progress. As these reformers see no good in existing conditions, and are powerless to change the situation, they are prominent only by the noise they make.

Those who are inclined to listen to the harpies who are continually pointing out the evils of this government, should exercise their intellectual faculties and look for the good that there is in it. A country that has stood the test of popular government for one hundred and thirty-four years and gives life, liberty and protection to its people, is not in the last stages of decay. It is the asylum of millions of immigrants from the European countries, who, if opportunity and conditions were not better here, would remain at home. Every civil and political right that any citizen ever enjoyed in this country is as much in effect today as at the beginning.
Every civic wrong complained of can be righted by the people, if they so choose, and in no country is the standard of living so high, nor opportunity so great as here. These are some of the things to remember when the knockers are at work, as well as to look about and see the evidence of these blessings everywhere apparent.

Time to Act

The recommendations of State
Health Commissioner Samuel Dixon that Charleroi, North Charleroi, Mon-essen and Donora unite in the construction of a sewage disposal plant, should arouse more interest than it has among taxpayers in these four towns. The time is not far distant when these towns will be prohibited from running sewage into the Monongahela river or any other stream, and that will mean a big investment by each town individually for a disposal plant if they do not take immediate steps to unite and divide the expense.

Ever since the State Health Department decided to prohibit the running of sewage into the streams the Mail has advocated a movement for State aid in establishing a sewer system in the great water sheds of the State. The proposition for each town to build its own disposal plant is too great a financial burden on the taxpayers. Besides this it leaves unprotected gaps between the towns by which the water can become contaminated but unincorporated districts as under existing conditions. This project cannot be attained until it is thoroughly agitated, and delay will only add to the expense of the incorporated towns. It is time to get busy.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Those persons who deride capitalists because they are capitalists are usually too weak minded to recognize ability and capableness should they run plump into it.

According to the Washington Observer and the Washington Reporter a man who lives in Pennsylvania some where and who is somewhat familiarly called "Farmer" Creasy, seems to be an important personage. It would be really interesting to know just what this particular "Farmer" ever accomplished.

If you are determined upon taking a vacation, it is just as well that you remember wherever you go, you will have to pay your way.

A New Castle minister has advertised that he will preach with the lights out. Is this a move to get the young people, or just an effort to cut down the electric light bill?

Next to having a profound knowledge is knowing how to find information when you want it. The dictionary, the encyclopedia and the World's almanac supply many deficiencies.

If the Black Horse tavern at Canonsburg is razed, the only historical spots we will have in Washington county will be Acheson and his print shop over at Washington.

Col. John Canon and his consideration for the troubles of the farmers, dealt very mildly with those who participated and by the time that Mad Anthony Wayne arrived, the entire Western country was as peaceful as it is at the present time. Rev. Henry Mc-Cook, D. D., the famous etymologist, made the Black Horse Tavern and the Whiskey Insurrection the theme of his novel, "The Latimers," and numerous other books, among which is "Sim Green," by Richard T. Wiley of the Elizabeth Herald. This book deals principally with the part the river district played in the revolt, although the Black Horse Tavern incident is featured. It is believed that many relics of the insurrection can be gathered from all parts of Washington and Allegheny counties and once the movement for the preservation of this historic structure is well started, it is believed the school directors of Canonsburg will rein-quish their claims upon the property upon repayment for their outlay.

SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS AT ELDORA ON SUNDAY

Two extra strong features have been engaged for Eldora Park Sunday, which will add to the attractions of this popular resort. These are Fremont's Dog Circus, which is an aggregation of trained canines that performs some most surprising feats.
The other attraction is an aerial act by Roder and Lester, two of the most daring aerialists in the profession. They perform some startling feats in mid air that are well worth a trip to the park if there were no other features to recommend it as an outing resort.
The Friday night dances are a feature his year the same as in previous seasons, and the extreme hot weather of the present week is expected to bring out a big crowd of congenial young people.

The attractions Sunday will be presented afternoon and evening, and are free.

TOO GOOD TO BE WELL.

A London Hospital Doctor's Hurry
Patient From the Outside.

The accident bell at the door of the hospital clangs, and the next moment an agitated parent is seen running down the passage with a child tucked under the arm, its bare legs streaming behind it in the wind of its mother's rapidity.

"What's the matter, missis? Has she swallowed some poison?"
"No, sir; it ain't that," she pants,
"but I'm that scared I don't know
'ardly which way to turn."

"Well, but what's happened? Has she hurt herself?"
"No, sir, and 'er father 'e's that upset 'e couldn't do nothink, else I ain't used to running like that, and 'e'd 'ave brought 'er up, but 'e says as 'ow 'e daren't touch 'er, and I've run all the way, and me 'eart'—"

"Come, now, missis, just tell me quietly what's the matter with the child."

The patient, a pretty little thing of four, looks inquiringly at her amazed parent. There seems to be little the matter with her.

"It's all very well yer a-sittin' there and a-tellin' of me to be quiet," cries the mother. "If yer 'ad children of yer own yer wouldn't like ter see 'em die afore yer eyes. Oh, dear, oh, dear, and there ain't only two more and the baby!"

The doctor in despair examines the little girl, but fails to discover anything wrong. "Now, look here," says he firmly, "I can't find anything the matter with your child, so you'll have to go away unless you tell me why you brought her up to the hospital."

"Well, doctor, we was all a-bavin' our tea a minute ago as it might be, tripe as was over from dinner when Susy, this one I 'ave with me, says as

His Kindly Act.
In a Sunday school class recently the teacher sought to impress upon the small boys the virtue of kindly and helpful deeds.
"Now," said she, "let every boy here-try to do some kindness during the week and next Sunday report what he did."

Next Sunday arrived, and the teacher proceeded to listen to stories of good deeds done. Finally she reached the smallest boy in the class. His age is nine.
"Well, Willie," she said, "have you done any kindness for any one, anything really helpful, during the week?"
"Yes'm."

"What was it?"
"I let another kid copy me 'rithmetic lesson off me book in school."

To Sleep Like a Top.
To "sleep like a top" has probably a very different origin from that which appears. "Top" is thought to be a corruption of the French taupe, or mole.
This interpretation is far more in accordance with the idea usually conveyed—that of a prolonged, undisturbed sleep like that of a mole in winter rather than the short, enduring so called "sleep" of a top when it revolves on its axis with a gentle, huming sound.

Going Some.
"Yes, sir," said old man Braggard,
"as soon as I see them birds I went into the house and took down the old blunderbuss and pegged at 'em, and, by gorry, I brought down 'tubby birds to one shot. Can ye beat that?"
"Ya-as," drawled Uncle Si Peavey.
"You know Bill Wiggins' frog pond?"
"Yes," said old man Braggard.
"What of it?"
"Waal, I went down there the other night after sundown to shoot a couple of bullfrogs with my old shotgun," said Uncle Si. "There was 5,000 of 'em settled on them there lily pads, and I just lifted that there gun to my shoulder and let her go."
"Spose you did," said old man Braggard.
"How does that affect my bird story?"
"Beats it all holler," retorted Uncle Si. "The minute my gun went off them bull durned 5,000 bullfrogs croaked."—Harper's Weekly.

Potatoes a la Princesse.
To one pint of mashed potatoes add one tablespoonful melted butter and one egg well beaten. Cut the potatoes into strips two inches long, one inch wide and half an inch thick. Dip the strips first into the melted butter, then into the egg and lay them with a knife on lightly buttered tin pans. Cook in hot oven for ten minutes and serve.

An Expert Opinion of Skin Diseases.

A prominent national expert on skin diseases whose name you are familiar with says that in all his scientific experience he has never found so hard a disease to conquer as eczema. Yet he does not hesitate to recommend Zemo as a most successful remedy for the treatment of Eczema, itching skin diseases, dandruff, pimples, blackheads and all other diseases of the skin and scalp. He says that not only do its curative qualities make it popular but also the fact that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A great improvement over the old style greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use but do not destroy the germ life that causes the disease.
Zemo draws the germs life that cause the disease. Zemo draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clear and healthy.
Can be used freely on infants. Mr.
Piper will gladly supply those who call with a free sample bottle of Zemo and a booklet which explains in simple language all about skin diseases and how to cure yourself at home with Zemo.

THE SEPARATION.

Why One Victim Lost Faith in Side Whiskered Brethren.

"Uh-uh!st 30' was gone," said Brother Snathers, relating the news to Brother Buckaloo, who had been on a journey, "a gentleman 'peared on de scene yuh wld de notation dat he was a clarryvoyant and de seventh son o' supph-l duunah what-and was gwine to hold a secession in de lodge hall and show signs and wondrous for de modest sum o' two bits for folks and 10 cents for betwix sized childen; pottly pussouage, wid a striped vest and woolly side whiskers, and 'bout the shade, he was, of de opposite side of a fish."

"Wahst I'd a-been dar," enviously remarked Brother Buckaloo.

"Wahst yo' had, sah, uh-kaze I likes sympathy. "Well-uh, de side whiskered gen'lman took de money at de do, and de house was plumb packed, and den he blowed out de lights and 'nounced in a grizzly voice for everybody to set right still, uh-kaze for de first spearment he was uh gwine to whirl in and separate deir souls fum deir bodles."

TUNING A PIANO.

A Professional's Experience With Irritable Von Bulow.

"Piano tuners are for the most part graduated from piano factories," says one of them. "While the piano tuner is required to know every part in the makeup of a piano, he is not necessarily a piano repairer. Nor can the average piano maker or repairer tune a piano. There are hundreds of expert makers and repairers of pianos who wouldn't be able to tell one tune from another."

"The piano tuner is born, not made. His acute sense of the vibrations of sound is given to him at his birth, and the man who hasn't got this sense can't become a piano tuner."

"Quite a number of years ago, when Hans von Bulow was in America, I tuned the piano upon which he played. He wouldn't allow the instrument to be tuned in the wareroom, one of his whims being that even a short removal of a piano knocks it all out of tune—something in that theory at that. So I tuned it upon the platform upon which he was to perform. He stood over me all the time, letting out agonized whoops and German cuss words until I couldn't help but laugh in his face."

"Finally, when I had the piano almost tuned, he gave a few more shrieks and, grabbing the wrench, began doing the job all over again. I let him go ahead, and inside of three minutes he had the piano so hopelessly out of tune that it took me three hours to get it into shape again. Herr von Bulow had to pay double for this little exhibition of temper."—Spokane Sportsman Review.

Foresight.

Little George, who was four years old, had been told many Bible stories. Among them was the story of the flood and the building of the ark by Noah. One day a storm threatened. The clouds grew darker, the wind arose, and suddenly the rain began to fall.

"Auntie," said George, "do you think it is going to storm?"

"Yes, I think it will," was the reply.

"Do you think it will be a bad storm?" asked the little fellow.

"Yes, I think it will be a bad storm," the aunt replied.

"Well, don't you think some of us had better begin building an ark?" he asked.—Los Angeles Times.

HOW ATTRACTION WORKS.

Attraction acts very curiously. Thus if there were a man in the moon and if he were like the men on the earth he would be able to leap over a three storied house with as much ease as an ordinary jumper springs over a three foot fence in consequence of the forces of attraction being much less at the moon's surface than at the earth's. An elephant there would be as light footed as the deer here. A boy throwing stones might easily land them in an adjoining county. On the other hand, the reverse of all this would happen in Jupiter or Saturn. They being so much greater than the earth, their attraction would so impede locomotion that a man would scarcely be able to crawl, and large animals would be crushed by their own weight.

In the Land of Windmills.

The Dutch when they invite you, and they are not a guest seeking race, are extremely hospitable and make you at once welcome. Sometimes, however, when it comes to dinner, their active hospitality demands an energetic recognition. The table is laid with piles of plates before each fork. On your first visit the spoons and forks are heavy silver, the knives of the finest steel and ivory. You never, however, eat with them again. When you have been shown that a family possesses them that ends it. You eat thereafter from everyday ware.

"What would the silver be like for our descendants if we used it often?" an old lady asked me. "What would we have if our ancestors had been careless?"—Eva Madden in Harper's Bazar.

THE NUMBER THIRTEEN.

Time Was When It Used to Be Considered Lucky.

Abstract science has done much in brushing away the cobwebs of popular superstition, and "abstract" science establishes the fact that thirteen in ancient times had quite a different meaning from the thirteen of today. Oriental people found in thirteen something divine and hence something good. Thus it is in the folklore of the Persians, the Indians and Hindoos.

Old Testament Jews were of the same opinion, as Biblical students well know. Thirteen cities were especially dedicated to the priestly tribe; thirteen high priests descended from Aaron; thirteen kings sat in the high council of the ancients; on the 13th day of the month Nisan the preparations for Passover began, and the holy incense consisted of thirteen different odors.

It is well known that all the nations of the old world were in more or less intellectual rapport. The ideas of one tribe descended to the other. But it is certainly interesting to learn that the figure 13 had its sacred and divine meaning also in America of yore among the long since extinct tribes of the Incas and the Aztecs. The inhabitants of Peru counted seven days without any particular name in the week. Their year had seven times fifty-two days, or four times thirteen weeks. The father was compelled to support his illegitimate child to the thirteenth year. The Aztecs had weeks of thirteen days, each with a special name. Their century had fifty-two years, or four times thirteen. Their public archives were of circular form, with a sun in the center of each of the thirteen parts, and thirteen were their tribes.

Two Ribs Broken.

Several people saw him slip on a wet step and fall. Partly extricating himself from his umbrella, he set up such a wail of distress that every one in hearing ran to his assistance regardless of the drenching rain.

"Are you hurt?" asked a chorus of voices.

"Anything broken?" demanded another.

"Only two ribs," he muttered in tones of deep anguish as he wiped his bearded face on his sleeve.

Helping him up, a kind man dragged him into a drug store. One thoughtful person suggested a glass of brandy, another more generous said there were two ribs broken, and a second glass followed the first.

"That'll make you feel better, old man. Ribs hurt you now?"

"What ribs?" he puzzled, smacking his lips.

"Why, the ones you said were broken?"

"Oh," he replied, getting on his feet and moving toward the door. "Dey was de ribs in me umbrella."—Judge.

MEXICANS' STAFF OF LIFE.

The Tortilla Is Their Bread—Frijoles Are Boiled Beans.

The tortilla is the ancient Indian bread of Mexico. Its only constituent is Indian corn (maize), which the women soak in lime-water until the kernels are at the point of bursting, then wash thoroughly until it is free from lime, when they grind it by rubbing it on a large block of stone, especially cut for the purpose, with a smaller stone which they hold in their hands.

The operation looks very much like rubbing clothes on a washboard and is a laborious and tedious one. The lime renders the corn dough adhesive, like wheat flour dough, and it is easily patted between the hands into cakes the size and shape of an ordinary grid-dlecake and is baked upon a thin stone griddle. Though no salt or lard is added, fresh tortillas are exceedingly palatable.

The one other food mainstay is frijoles—ordinary beans. They are boiled to a mush and with a liberal quantity of lard are warmed as required in a fat earthen dish that answers for a frying pan. The very poor people do not always have the luxury of frijoles and when they do have them cannot always afford the lard.—New York Sun.

They Know the Pole.

Some years ago when Dr. Nansen visited Leeds on his return from the polar regions he was welcomed by a large crowd of spectators, who cheered vociferously. Two of the most ardent admirers of Nansen were a couple of old men, who kept shouting and waving their sticks. When the celebrated explorer had passed, immediately following in the wake of the carriage came a wagon dragged by three horses, bearing a long iron pole, which belonged to the electric tramways company.

Directly the old men saw it the following conversation took place:

"Well, I'll be blowed! Sitba, Bill, he's brou't the pole back w' him!" said one.

"Aye," said the other admirer of Nansen, "and we t' only two 'at's noticed it. There's all running after t' carriage. Sitba, there's that ignorant they can't tell t' pole when they see it!"

He Was Not Superstitious.

A captain of an ocean liner tells the following story: Coming from the old country was a very nervous old lady who complained that she was sure there was a rat in her stateroom.

"Keep it there, madam," said the captain.

"But do you like rats?" asked she.

"I've got a nest in my cabin," retorted the brusque seaman, "and I never disturb them. When they leave the ship I do."

"Why, you must be superstitious," urged the dame.

"No, ma'am," wound up the captain, "I'm not, but the rats are."

Sensitive Tobacco Plants.

In Cuba the best tobacco comes from one strip of land only, the slopes of a certain river, and even there a north wind may ruin the crop. Tobacco is the most sensitive plant we know of. The smallest thing affects its flavor. Plant Virginia tobacco in Germany, and the result is a better tobacco, but it is German tobacco, not Virginian. In north Borneo they produce the most delicate and silky leaves that ever were seen, but the tobacco lacks character and taste. Send Havana seeds to the Philippines, and you merely produce a superior Manila. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Homemade Names.

"That little girl," remarked the druggist to the doctor, "was just in for 10 cents' worth of tincture of benzoin. But I've had it before and gave her benzoin."

"That was easy," answered the doctor. "This morning on a diphtheria case the woman wanted to know if I administered antitoxin with an epidemic syringe." —New York Press.

Just the Opposite.

"When I first met you," cried the woman who had been married for her money, "you occupied a low, menial position, but now, thanks to me, your position!"

"Is a hymeneal one," her husband interrupted.

ORIENTAL SERVANTS.

All Around Ability of the Indispensable "Boy" in India.

In these days of loud wailing about the haughty domestic, exorbitant wages and small returns it is soothing to recall the efficiency and submissive service of the oriental servant.

In India the indispensable "boy" does everything—"boy" being a generic name regardless of age or native dignity—receiving in remuneration the equivalent of $12 to $14 a month at the most. He buys your railroad tickets, checks your luggage, settles the clamors of luggage coolies, gives your tips and shoos away the hordes of beggars, telegraphs to hotels for your rooms and takes care of them when you get there, makes the bed, brings the afternoon tea, stands behind your chair at table and serves you, brings your account when you leave and wrangles for you over its inevitable extortions.

At the dark bungalows he borrows for your meals and, if necessary, cooks them. He produces washmen, sewing men and all sorts of dealers in everything on demand. He makes up your bed on sleeping cars and replenishes your supply of ice and soda. He runs your errands, cleans your boots and hats, dars your stockings and mends your clothes.

When you walk abroad, he attends you and directs you to the bazaars where you will be robbed least, receiving his commission later from an appreciative proprietor.

For every rupee entrusted to him for general expenditure he renders an account, and though he doubtless robs you gently he does not let others do it (and it is distinctly advantageous to be robbed by one person rather than a score).

He is silent and noiseless, sneezes whenever you speak to him and never enters your presence with his shoes on or his turban off.

And finally, his multifarious day ended, he wraps himself in his shawl and sleeps across your threshold. —New York Tribune.

Animals With Pockets.

Did you ever think what a curious thing it is that some animals have pockets—great, roomy, fur lined vest pockets, big enough to carry a family of little ones about in? Many of the animals native to Australia and Tasmania have these convenient pockets, and so has the possum, a common animal in our southern states. The kangaroo is the largest of this species. Full grown kangaroos go sixteen feet at a jump, and so when going on a long journey or running from hunters think what a comfort it must be to Mother Kangaroo to know that her babies are snug and safe in her pocket! —Exchange.

Secret Ink.

A simple expedient when one wishes to confide his secrets to paper and yet keep them in to use ordinary rice water instead of ink. It cannot be seen when dry, but turns blue when iodine is applied to it. If it be desired to make perfectly sure of the destruction of the contents of the letter after it has been read the purpose may be accomplished by writing it with a solution of iodine of starch in water. A few days later the script will have disappeared.

So Easy.

Gavin—There's one thing I like about Jones' shop, you can order your goods through the telephone and after a short wait have them delivered. Bailey—That is just what I don't like Gavin—What? Bailey—The short wait. —New York Journal.

A Reflection.

"To my annoyance," she said, "I found he had a look of my hair. How he got it I can't imagine." The older girl smiled oddly. "When you were out of the room, perhaps?" she hazarded. —Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE WORD "ALPHABET."

It Comes Through the Greeks and Hebrews From Phoenicia.

When we speak of our A B C's as our "alphabet" we are using a word hoary with age, that, as far back as we can trace it, came from the eastern shore of the Mediterranean sea, thousands of years before the Hebrews went up there and took possession of the land of Canaan. Back of the people who occupied that land before the events of Exodus were written we are not able to trace the word, for we have not sufficient knowledge of them or of their etymological history before we find them in Canaan.

It has been only within recent years that we have been able to know that the word "alphabet" came to us from the Phoenicians. Before that we supposed that it came to us from the Hebrews, through the Greek. As we say "A B C" the Greeks say "alpha beta" (the first two letters of their alphabet), which when it reached us became "alphabet." This we supposed had come to the Greeks from the Hebrews, who called their first two letters "alph" and "beth," but since then we have found that both the Greeks and the Hebrews got the word "alphabet" from the same source, which was the Phoenicians.

The people of Phoenicia had the same letters, "alph" and "beth," which have suffered but little change in sound down to our A and B. Alph meant simply an ox, the sign of it being a conventional ox's head, with the lower part of the face turned slightly to its right, and beth meant a house, which was pictured by the rude outline of a primitive dwelling, which had a superfluous line added to distinguish it from other characters very like it, as we place a tall on a Q to distinguish it from an O. So the first two letters of our A B C's were originally an ox and a house and gave the name of all of the twenty-six letters which we call our "alphabet." —New York Herald.

Prison in Germany.

The German workman who the other day was fined in a London police court probably considered that he had a genuine grievance when he complained that, in addition to the fine, his compulsory attendance at the court had lost him a day's pay. For they do these things better—at any rate, from the delinquents' point of view—in the fatherland. For what may be described as a trivial offense the worker is not compelled to attend the court, and the amount of the fine is collected from him at his house by a policeman. In the event of a more serious though still comparatively venial breach of the law, punishable by a short term of imprisonment, justice is satisfied if he works off the time by installments Sundays and holidays. —London Chronicle.

THE WAKING PROCESS.

Easy Scheme to End Your Sleep at Any Hour You Wish.

"We hear it frequently asserted that if persons will impress the thought firmly upon their minds and continue thinking about it until they have fallen asleep that they desire to awake at a certain hour in the morning they will do so without fail," said Dr. Joseph Boehm in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "But how many people have tried this method of insuring a prompt awakening at a given hour in the morning only to find their rest throughout the night disturbed and uneasy."

"The brain will usually respond to the will and awaken one in the morning near the desired hour under any circumstances, but to prevent the unbroken, uneasy sleep the adoption of only a very simple device is necessary. The last thing before getting into bed take a watch or clock and turn the hands to the hour at which one wishes to rise and gaze at this just long enough to fix the hour firmly on the retentive memory. Then if no other absorbing thoughts intervene between that and the moment one is locked in slumber the night's rest will be easy and unbroken, and promptly at the hour in the morning, as a rule, one will find oneself released from sleep and wide awake. There is no need to repeat it over and over in the mind. All this makes the brain uneasy and results in the disturbed slumber. Simply look at the watch or clock, as I have indicated, and the influence of the mind over matter will be clearly demonstrated in the morning. Try it some night and observe how smoothly this physiological fact works."

IN HIGH ALTITUDES.

The Most Common Ways in Which the Heart is Affected.

Dr. I. N. Hall, writing in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences, says that the dangers to the heart in high altitudes are the same as in other places, but are greatly exaggerated in some directions. The troubles most common and serious, he says, relate to inflammation of the heart muscle, hardening of the arteries and dilation of the heart.

The principle applied is this: The heart and lungs have an increase of functional work with each added degree of elevation and the consequent decrease in atmospheric pressure. To meet the increased demand on the circulation the heart must enlarge if the usual amount of exercise is taken. It is not unusual for acute dilation of the heart to occur after slight effort on the part of those whose arteries have begun to harden and who long have been accustomed to atmospheric pressure at the sea level. The trouble with those who suffer in high altitude, the writer declares, is that they try to do too much at first when they feel invigorated by the bracing atmosphere.

Dr. Hall adds that even an ascent in a railway train may be fatal to those who have but a narrow margin of heart strength, or the slightest exertion at such a time may produce angina pectoris. The average case of well compensated valvular disease will do as well at a high altitude as anywhere else if the patient observes proper precautions. In such a climate he is less susceptible to acute rheumatism.

Russian vengeance.

The Russian revolutionaries have absolutely no mercy on those who betray them. It is well known that in the year 1903 a traitor caught at Odessa was bricked up alive in a cellar.

Regnier, a French spy in the pay of the Russian police, for a long time eluded the vengeance of the revolutionaries. But they caught him at last, and that just at the moment when he fancied himself safe. His body was found in his cabin on a ship which reached Antwerp. He had been suffocated by fumes of sulphureted hydrogen. How this was done was never ascertained.

KING COAL

While He Lives His Throne Is Fixed In the United States.

The part played by coal in the world's affairs can well be illustrated by assuming the available supply to be suddenly cut off. The huge railroad systems of America would stop at once. So also would the electric power and lighting in all cities and suburbs. Steamship service would cease everywhere. Transit facilities would be dead. Factories, manufacturing industries like steel, iron, copper, etc., would cease. Armies of laborers would be thrown out of work. Malls, schools, the navy, newspapers, foreign and internal trade—all would cease to exist. The trilogy governing commercial advance, heat, light and power, except a negligible amount of water, oil, etc., would be annihilated—all this until some other form of power could be developed. The possibility of such a cataclysm is not imminent, for coal will reign for some time yet and is destined to become a power whose capabilities have as yet been comparatively felt only more faintly than would a feather on the hide of an elephant.

The world needs coal. The United States has that coal to deliver. It will be wholly natural that so potent a necessity will make for continued peace and understanding among the powers of the world.

The coal mines of Europe are sunk about 3,000 feet deep. Coal is still being quarried on the banks of the Ohio, and the mines of Europe are nearing the limit of commercial possibility. The manufacturing supremacy of the old world is passing to the new. Coal is king, and while he lives his throne is fixed forever in the United States.—Metropolitan Magazine.

An Obliging President.

During a short lived revolution, says Harper's Weekly, there came to be the head of the government "a little Central American republic a man who was above all things courteous and who was, moreover, very anxious to gain the good will of the foreign consuls. One of the latter, having heard that a certain countryman of his had died, addressed a note to the head of the new government, in which he stated that his own government would be grateful for a certificate of death of the individual in question. A few days later the consul received this communication:

Esteemed Senator—I blush to say that cannot at present comply with your excellency's request for a death certificate of the man named. I sent my soldiers, but he got away, to my shame. I shall use every effort to catch him, however, and hope to send your excellency the desired certificate at an early date.

Needless to say, the consul lost no time in communicating to the obliging president the information that the certificate was undesired, in view of the fact that the individual was able to "get away."

Hanged For Violating Smoke Law.

Curious and little known facts about the house fire were mentioned by E. H. Blake, addressing the surveyors' institution on warming and ventilation. Fires were at one time a great luxury, he said, and even the right to use the fire had been bequeathed. Thus the will of one Richard Byrchet (1516) read:

"I will it sayd Nell my wyfe shal have ye chamber she lyes in and lyberte at ye fyre to the house; all yese thyngs shal she have so long as she ys wyde."

Coal, continued Mr. Blake, was first imported into London at the end of the thirteenth century, but the smoke produced by burning it in improperly constructed grates caused such a prejudice against it that in 1306 a law was passed making it a capital offense to burn coal in the city. The Tower records give details of a man's trial and execution for the offense.—London Graphic.

He Didn't Bet.

"A man in my country," said a Kansas congressman, "was always anxious to bet on his game of checkers. One time he was about to play a game for $10 with a fellow called Three Fingers Jack. Suddenly one of his friends exclaimed:

"Don't bet, Charlie. Don't you know that fellow wore off two fingers playing checkers? That's why he's called Three Fingers Jack."

"That settled it. The bet was never made. A man who had worn off two fingers by brushing them up and down the checkerboard was too much for my friend."—Kansas City Journal.

A Bitter Disappointment.

"When I was in Paris," remarked the collector of curios, "I discovered in a bookstall a volume which I knew at first glance to be of extraordinary value. I could scarcely believe my good luck. Breathless, I inquired the price of the dealer. Just think of it! I could have had that treasure for a song."

"Well, why didn't you get it?" "Never could sing a note in my life," cried the collector, bursting into tears.—New York Times.

Getting Down to Business.

Mistress (to new servant)—There's two things, Mary, about which I am very particular. They are truthfulness and obedience. Mary—Yes'm, and when you tell me to say you're not in when a person calls that you don't wish to see which is it to be, mum—truthfulness or obedience?

Defined.

Preocious Child—Papa, tell me what is humming? Parent (with a deep drawn sigh)—It is, my dear, when your mamma pretends to be very fond of me and puts no buttons on my shirt.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Galena, Kans.—"A year ago last March I fell, and a few days after there was soreness in my right side. In a short time a bunch came and it bothered me so much at night I could not sleep. It kept growing larger and by fall it was as large as a hen's egg. I could not go to bed without a hot water bottle applied to that side. I had one of the best doctors in Kansas and he told my husband that I would have to be operated on as it was something like a tumor caused by a rupture. I wrote to you for advice and you told me not to get discouraged but to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did take it and soon the lump in my side broke and passed away."—Mrs. R. R. HUEY, 713 Mineral Ave., Galena, Kans.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

THE SAWMILL'S BOOKS.

They Needed Not an Auditor, but a Mathematical Carpenter.

Biffkins froze me with a stare. "I remember," he went on, calmly ignoring my interruption, "one time when I was hired to keep books for a sawmill way up north. 'Twas six days by log wagon from ever' place except in the infernal regions, the same being a quarter of a mile away, straight down. The durned simpleton they sent me had so much business with a roulette dealer that he forgot to tell me to get some office supplies, so when we got to camp I found that the principal equipment of my palatial 6 by 8 business apartment consisted of three lumber crayons, slightly shop worn, and a last year's almanac. I got some smooth pine boards and kept my books on them with chalk."

"How did it work?" I asked, interested in spite of myself.

"Like a charm," grinned Biffkins. "until the foreman of gang I got on a drunk one night and slept in the office and used up fourteen pages of the general ledger for kindlin' wood the next mornin'. The company sent up an auditor to check over my books, but he went back plumb disgusted. Told 'em they didn't need an auditor—what they wanted was a carpenter who was handy at figgers. An' that reminds me!"

Compensation For Injury.
Condemnation for injury in the mid die ages was in its infancy. The volume of the accounts of the lord high treasurer of Scotland, just published, tells incidentally of payments made to sufferers in the siege of Glasgow in 1544. To a carter who lost his horse $25 was paid, but $10.50 sufficed for a woman whose husband was killed, a like sum being given to the owners of two broken drums.

WASHINGTONS AVENUES DEFEAT CHRISTIANS IN EIGHT INNING

Takes Extra Long Battle to Decide Contest at Ball Park Last Evening

The Washington Avenues defeated the Christians in an extra inning contest last night by the score of 6 to 5. The affair was a good performance throughout and featured by some mighty stylish plays. The main thing to this particular contest was hitting, and two home runs were registered. In the first the Washington Avenues gleaned one score, it being the only one on either side, until the sixth when the Christians got two. In the seventh the Washington Avenues tallied four, and the Christians tied by the score by three runs. In their half of the extra inning the Washington avenue scored the winning tally, when Sowden got a walk stole second and third and came home on the first baseman's error. The Christians could not score in their half of the eighth. The score:

FOUR TOWNS MAY COMBINE IN CONSTRUCTING PLANT

State Health Commissioner Dixon Advises Charleroi, North Charleroi, Monessen and Donora to Confer

COMMITTEE WILL TAKE UP THE MATTER

State Health Commissioner Samuel G. Dixon in a letter recently sent out to the councils of the boroughs of Charleroi, North Charleroi, Monessen, and Donora, has advised that the four towns erect conjunctively a sewage disposal plant and it is likely that some time in the near future a committee from the Charleroi council, consisting of Charles O. Frye, Dr. A. O. Davis and W. H. Calvert, will meet in a few days to talk over the matter, previous to arranging for such a meeting.

According to Dr. Dixon, the situation of the four towns is such that there would be little difficulty in constructing and operating a sewage disposal plant jointly, and with infinitely less expense than separately. One man can operate a plant, which to erect costs about $50,000 or $60,000.

Some time ago the State Department of Health issued a permit to the borough of Charleroi to extend its sewer system under conditions prescribed by them and to discharge sewage into the river, untreated, subject to certain conditions. These conditions are:

1. All roof and storm water shall be excluded from this sewer extension herein approved.
2. On or before November 1, 1910, the borough shall either alone or in conjunction with other municipalities prepare a comprehensive sewerage plan for the collection and disposal of all sewage from its territory and submit the same to the Commissioner of Health for approval.
3. This permit to discharge sewage into the waters of the State shall cease on November 1, 1910. If on said date the terms of this permit shall have been complied with then, the time may be extended in which sewage may continue to be discharged into the sewer system. The proper authorities shall cause these wastes to be destroyed on the premises.

The borough of North Charleroi has been refused a sewer extension permit and is expected to at once make plans for a sewage disposal plant alone, or conjunctively with other municipalities.

Monessen to Have Carnival

Great and Glorious Aggregation of Unexcelled Attractions—So They Say

Monessen, which has been rejoicing over the fact that carnival companies have given it a wide berth so far this summer, is to have a carnival. Smith's Greater shows, coming from heaven knows where, is booked with its great stupendous and most wonderful shows in the world to exhibit there next week and for the firemen. The affair has been advertised, but just where the carnival is to show in Monessen seems to be a mystery. It is not generally supposed it will be on the streets and it may have to go outside the borough limits, as a company did last year which showed there. The present company does not mention the word clean in its advertisement.

TEACHERS ELECTED— TO FILL VACANCIES

High School Instructor, Primary and a Grade Teacher Chosen at Busy Session Last Night

With the election of three teachers to fill vacancies in the schools and the reading of the report of the auditors for the fiscal year just ended, the school board had a busy session last night.

One of the vacancies filled was that of a High School teacher. For this W. A. Swick, a graduate of Allegheny college, was elected. He comes with many recommendations and has had some experience in High School work, specializing on the sciences and Latin. This completes the High School faculty. Donald C. Willard, from the eastern part of the State, was recently elected principal and Miss Mary Walters, one of the teachers last year, was re-elected to a position.

BOY AND MAN VICTIMS OF MAD DOG NEAR BEALLSVILLE

Animal Attacks Young Lad as He Plays in Yard With Sister, Tearing His Flesh and Badly Wounding Him

Bitten by a dog supposedly mad, Clark Lancaster, a Beallsville blacksmith, and Russell Horton, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horton of near Beallsville, are at the Pasteur institute in Pittsburgh, taking treatment. They were bitten yesterday by a small yellow dog, the boy being attacked while at play in his father's yard, and Lancaster, as he was trying to kill the brute.

The first seen of the cur was when it started in pursuit of a buggy driven by Miss Ella Floyd, going from Centerville to Beallsville. She was frightened and whiped up the horse, but the dog trotted closely behind, white flecks of froth dropping from its lips. At the residence of Charles Horton, the dog suddenly swerved, and entering the yard dashed toward a swing in which Russell Horton and his little sister Nellie were playing. The animal viciously attacked the boy, while the girl ran screaming into the house. Pulling the little fellow off his seat, the mad animal bit him again and again, tearing the flesh and wounding him in many places. Then leaving him prostrate on the ground the dog loped away before aid could be extended to the child. Telephone messages were sent to Beallsville and when the animal appeared there it was met by a score of more or men armed with guns, stones and other missiles. Despite their efforts to kill it the dog continued its course and at the center of the town attacked Clark Lancaster as he was trying to shoot it. Then wounded by numerous bullets the animal fell dead. Dr. H. W. Brashear of Centerville attended the boy and Dr. H. C. Frye of Beallsville cared for Lancaster's injuries, and leaving Beallsville at about 9:30 o'clock last evening both were taken to Pittsburgh in L. C. Noble's automobile. The head of the dog was taken to be examined.

Lancaster is well known in Charleroi, being a brother-in-law of James and George Dawson both of Lookout avenue.

HOPE TO SAVE OLD BLACK HORSE TAVERN FROM BEING TORN DOWN

Plans on Foot to Make Noted Canonsburg Inn Museum in Which to Keep Relics of the Whiskey Insurrection

A movement has been started through Western Pennsylvania for the preservation, as a national museum, of the famous Black Horse Tavern at Canonsburg, in which will be preserved all relics relating to the Whiskey Insurrection of 1794. The Black Horse Tavern was built 136 years ago and was famous in the latter part of the 18th century as a turnpike tavern, at which General Washington and other famous men, who formed the United States, stopped. It became nationally famous, however, because of the fact that the Whiskey Insurrection was planned in it by men, at that time, leaders in Washington county affairs, and it was in this historic hostelry that the government mail bags were rifled and letters implicating many prominent residents of Washington county for treason were destroyed. The Whiskey Insurrection was the first organized attempt to defy the new United States Government. Farmers of Washington county at that time distilled their own whiskey and the imposition of an excise tax so aroused them that they gathered at Black Horse Tavern to plan a raid upon Gen. John Neville, the excise man, and the small company of Federal troops he had surrounding him. The insurrectionists, encouraged by such men as Col. John Canon, founder of Canonsburg and close business associate of Gen. Washington, and led by David Parkinson of Parkinson's Ferry, now Monongahela, and the most prominent man of Washington county, marched upon the home of Gen. Neville at Bower Hill, near Pittsburgh, attacked the garrison and burned the Neville home. The leader of the insurrectionists, Col. McMillan, was killed and they were routed. Col. McMillan's grave is still to be located in the cemetery at Mingo, through which the Pittsburgh-Charleroi car pass every day. At the church there was one of the rendezvous of the citizens of the river district where a revolt was planned against the United States government. Mad Anthony Wayne was sent by Gen. Washington at the head of a large body of Federal troops to suppress the insurrection and restore order. The whole Western country was at a fever of excitement over the raid, but conservative men of Washington county succeeded in suppressing the hot heads before the Federal troops arrived. Gen. Neville, enraged over the attack, dispatched mail bags to Gen. Washington, enclosing the names of many prominent Washington county citizens, whom he charged with treason. The insurrectionists intercepted these mail bags, took them to the Black Horse Tavern at Canonsburg, rifled the sacks and destroyed the letters which mentioned the names of the insurrectionists. Gen. Washington, because of his possession of large tracts of land in Washington county, his regard for

Auditors Complete Work and Make Their Report for the Fiscal Year Just Terminated

TOTAL RECEIPTS, SCHOOL, OVER $37,000

The school board at their meeting last night heard the report of the auditors for the fiscal year just closed, and accepted the report.

By the report the school finances are shown to be in good shape. The total ordinary expenditures during the year for school were $31,538.24 and the extraordinary expenditure, school, were $2,550.91. The balance in the treasury June 6, 1910, school, was $514.94 and the excess receipts $8,180.11, making the total expenditures for school $37,784.20. The extraordinary expenditures consist of the payment of a loan of $2,500, interest on the loan and some other incidentals.

The ordinary expenditures for building were $15,479.28 and the extraordinary expenditures were $1,750. The balance in the treasury, building, June 6, 1910, was $257.47 and the grand total expenditures for building was $17,486.70. The extraordinary expenditures consisted of improvements and repairs at the Second and Crest avenue schools. The total liabilities, school, is $11,000.00 and of building $244,014. In the latter is included bonds and interest on bonds in the sum of $93,500. The net present worth of schools is $14,646.57, and of buildings is $150,799.79.

Tener Will Hear He is Nominated

Americus Club at Pittsburgh Arranging to Entertain June 23

Congressman John K. Tener of Pittsburgh will be officially notified in Pittsburgh of his nomination as the Republican candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. The program will be carried out at the headquarters of the Americus Club, and the date will be July 23 at 2 p. m. Mayor William A. Magee, president of the Americus Club, is completing arrangements for the notification. Gov. Edwin S. Stuart and United States Senators Boise Penrose and George T. Oliver are expected to be present.

Henry F. Walton, Republican State chairman, and Secretary W. Harry Baker are looking after the general details of the notification. While it has been suggested that the other State Republican candidates be notified on the same occasion, arrangements for this have not been completed.

There had been a suggestion that the Tener notification take place in Philadelphia, or in his home town of Charleroi, but as Pittsburgh also claims him as practically her own, it was decided finally that the event should be held there.

Mrs. Ballinger of Pittsburgh and Mrs. McIntyre of Washington were guests of Mrs. J. S. Allison, Bentleyville.

Mrs. Harry Richardson of near Ellsworth returned Sunday evening from Beaver county, where she had been visiting her parents, Judge and Mrs. R. S. Holt.

Mrs. W. E. Henderson of Pittsburgh is a guest of Mrs. Thomas Frye, of Bentleyville.

Miss Maude Young of Butler is a guest of friends at Ellsworth.

Work of Razing to Begin Soon

Rivermen Elated by Announcement That Bridge Will be Torn Down

The work of tearing down the old wooden bridge at Brownsville will begin about the first of August, by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, which recently purchased the structure, according to announcement made yesterday. The news was received by rivermen with much elation, from the fact that the bridge has been a hindrance to navigation for some time, and more so after the completion of the new lock and dam at Brownsville. It is not expected that it will take long to raze the bridge, but it will destroy one of the landmarks and the only connection across the Monongahela river of the old national pike. Efforts are being made by citizens of Brownsville and West Brownsville to have a free bridge erected by the two counties of Fayette and Washington.

"WEE FIVE" HOLD DANCE AT ELDORA

The "Wee Five" club of Monongahela, consisting of five well known young men of that town, gave a dance at Eldora Park last night, which was well attended by many from along the valley, and which was a brilliant social success. Dancing was from early evening until after the midnight hour. Many were present from this vicinity and other places to attend the affair.

THE SEPARATION.

Why One Victim Lost Faith in Side Whiskered Brethren.

"Uh-whist! yo' was gone," said Brother Smathers, relating the news to Brother Buckaroo, who had been on a journey. "A gentleman 'peared on de scene-rub wid de notation dat he was a clairvoyant and de seventh son o' appin-I dunno what-and was 'fined to hold a secession in de lodge hall and show signs and wondrous for a modest sum o' two bits for folks and 10 cents for betwixt sized childen; pottily pussavage, wid a striped vest and woolly skie whiskers, and 'boot the shade, he was, of de opposite side of a fish."

"Wish I'd a-been dar," enviously remarked Brother Buckaroo.

"Wish yo' had, sah, uh-kaze I likes sympathy. 'Well-uh, de side whiskered gentleman took de money at de do', and de house was plumb packed, and den he blowed out de lights and 'nounced in a grizzly voice 'for everybody to set right still, uh-kaze for de first spearment he was uh gwine to whirl in and separate deir souls fum deir bodies."

"Mum-mum-zuh Lawd, sah! Did he do it?"

"Not so's yo' could notice it. We does not and not waited and waited, and bimely a gambler mau dat wasn't skeered begun to snawt, and den he lit a light, and, behold, the piffessah was gone! He'd done separated us smahd growed folks fum our two bits apiece and de innocent childen fum deir dimes and was gone fum us. TUNING A PIANO.

A Professional's Experience With Irritable Von Bulow.

"Piano tuners are for the most part graduated from piano factories," says one of them. "While the piano tuner is required to know every part in the makeup of a piano, he is not necessarily a piano repairer. Nor can the average piano maker or repairer tune a piano. There are hundreds of expert makers and repairers of pianos who wouldn't be able to tell one tune from another."

"The piano tuner is born, not made. His acute sense of the vibrations of sound is given to him at his birth, and the man who hasn't got this sense can't become a piano tuner."

"Quite a number of years ago, when Hans von Bulow was in America, I tuned the piano upon which he played. He wouldn't allow the instrument to be tuned in the waterroom, one of his whims being that even a short removal of a piano knocks it all out of tune—something in that theory at that. So I tuned it upon the platform upon which he was to perform. He stood over me all the time, letting out agonized whoops and German cuss words until I couldn't help but laugh in his face."

"Finally, when I had the piano almost tuned, he gave a few more shrieks and, grabbing the wrench, began doing the job all over again. I let him go ahead, and inside of three minutes he had the piano so hopelessly out of tune that it took me three hours to get it into shape again. Herr von Bulow had to pay double for this little exhibition of temper."—Spokane Sportsman Review.

Foresight.

Little George, who was four years old, had been told many Bible stories. Among them was the story of the flood and the building of the ark by Noah. One day a storm threatened. The clouds grew darker, the wind arose, and suddenly the rain began to fall.

"Auntie," said George, "do you think it is going to storm?"

"Yes, I think it will," was the reply.

"Do you think it will be a bad storm?" asked the little fellow.

"Yes, I think it will be a bad storm," the aunt replied.

"Well, don't you think some of us had better begin building an ark?" he asked.—Los Angeles Times.

How Attraction Works.

Attraction acts very curiously. Thus if there were a man in the moon and if he were like the men on the earth he would be able to leap over a three-story house with as much ease as an ordinary jumper springs over a three-foot fence in consequence of the forces of attraction being much less at the moon's surface than at the earth's. An elephant there would be as light footed as the deer here. A boy throwing stones might easily land them in an adjoining county. On the other hand, the reverse of all this would happen in Jupiter or Saturn. They being so much greater than the earth, their attraction would so impede locomotion that a man would scarcely be able to crawl, and large animals would be crushed by their own weight.

In the Land of Windmills.

The Dutch when they invite you, and they are not a guest seeking race, are extremely hospitable and make you at once welcome. Sometimes, however, when it comes to dinner, their active hospitality demands an energetic recognition. The table is laid with piles of plates before each chair. On your first visit the spoons and forks are heavy silver, the knives of the finest steel and ivory. You never, however, eat with them again. When you have been shown that a family possesses them that ends it. You eat thereafter from everyday ware.

"What would the silver be like for our descendants if we used it often?" an old lady asked me. "What would we have if our ancestors had been careless?"—Eva Madden in Harper's Bazar.

THE NUMBER THIRTEEN.

Time Was When It Used to Be Considered Lucky.

Abstract science has done much in brushing away the cobwebs of popular superstition, and abstract science establishes the fact that thirteen in ancient times had quite a different meaning from the thirteen of today. Oriental people found in thirteen something divine and hence something good. Thus it is in the folklore of the Persians, the Indians and Hindoos.

Old Testament Jews were of the same opinion, as Biblical students well know. Thirteen cities were especially dedicated to the priestly tribe; thirteen high priests descended from Aaron; thirteen kings sat in the high council of the ancients; on the 13th day of the month Nisan the preparations for Passover began, and the holy incense consisted of thirteen different odors.

It is well known that all the nations of the old world were in more or less intellectual rapport. The ideas of one tribe descended to the other. But it is certainly interesting to learn that the figure 13 had its sacred and divine meaning also in America of yore among the long since extinct tribes of the Incas and the Aztecs. The inhabitants of Peru counted seven days without any particular name in the week. Their year had seven times fifty-two days, or four times thirteen weeks. The father was compelled to support his illegitimate child to the thirteenth year. The Aztecs had weeks of thirteen days, each with a special name. Their century had fifty-two years, or four times thirteen. Their public archives were of circular form, with a sun in the center of each of the thirteen parts, and thirteen were their tribes.

Two Ribs Broken.

Several people saw him slip on a wet step and fall. Partly extricating himself from his umbrella, he set up such a wail of distress that every one in hearing ran to his assistance regardless of the drenching rain.

"Are you hurt?" asked a chorus of voices.

"Anything broken?" demanded another.

"Only two ribs," he muttered in tones of deep anguish as he wiped his bleared face on his sleeve.

Helping him up, a kind man dragged him into a drug store. One thoughtful person suggested a glass of brandy, another more generous said there were two ribs broken, and a second glass followed the first.

"That'll make you feel better, old man. Ribs hurt you now?"

"What ribs?" he puzzled, smacking his lips.

"Why, the ones you said were broken?"

"Oh," he replied, getting on his feet and moving toward the door. "Dey was de ribs in me umbrella."—Judge.

MEXICANS' STAFF OF LIFE.

The Tortilla Is Their Bread—Frijoles Are Boiled Beans.

The tortilla is the ancient Indian bread of Mexico. Its only constituent is Indian corn (maize), which the women soak in lime-water until the kernels are at the point of bursting, then wash thoroughly until it is free from lime, when they grind it by rubbing it on a large block of stone, especially cut for the purpose, with a smaller stone which they hold in their hands.

The operation looks very much like rubbing clothes on a washboard and is a laborious and tedious one. The lime renders the corn dough adhesive, like wheat flour dough, and it is easily patted between the hands into cakes the size and shape of an ordinary griddlecake and is baked upon a thin stone griddle. Though no salt or leaven is added, fresh tortillas are exceedingly palatable.

The one other food mainstay is frijoles—ordinary beans. They are boiled to a mush and with a liberal quantity of lard are warmed as required in a fat earthen dish that answers for a frying pan. The very poor people do not always have the luxury of frijoles and when they do have them cannot always afford the lard.—New York Sun.

They Knew the Pole.

Some years ago when Dr. Nansen visited Leeds on his return from the polar regions he was welcomed by a large crowd of spectators, who cheered vociferously. Two of the most ardent admirers of Nansen were a couple of old men, who kept shouting and waving their sticks. When the celebrated explorer had passed, immediately following in the wake of the carriage came a wagon dragged by three horses, bearing a long iron pole, which belonged to the electric tramways company.

Directly the old men saw it the following conversation took place: "Well, I'll be blowed! Silba, Bill, he's brout the pole back wi' him!" said one.

"Aye," said the other admirer of Nansen, "and we t' only two 'at's noticed it. The're all running after t' carriage. Silba, the're that ignorant they can't tell t' pole when they see it!"

He Was Not Superstitious.

A captain of an ocean liner tells the following story: Coming from the old country was a very nervous old lady who complained that she was sure there was a rat in her stateroom.

"Keep it there, madam," said the captain.

"But do you like rats?" asked she.

"I've got a best in my cabin," retorted the brusque seaman, "and I never disturb them. When they leave the ship I do."

"Why, you must be superstitious," urged the dame.

"No, me'am," wound up the captain, "I'm not, but the rats are."

Sensitive Tobacco Plants.

In Cuba the best tobacco comes from one strip of land only, the slopes of a certain river, and even there a north wind may ruin the crop. Tobacco is the most sensitive plant we know of. The smallest thing affects its flavor. Plant Virginia tobacco in Germany, and the result is a better tobacco, but it is German tobacco, not Virginian. In north Borneo they produce the most delicate and silky leaves that ever were seen, but the tobacco lacks character and taste. Send Havana seeds to the Philippines, and you merely produce a superior Manila—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Homemade Names.

"That little girl," remarked the druggist to the doctor, "was just in for 10 cents' worth of tincture of benzoin. But I've had it before and gave her benzoin."

"That was easy," answered the doctor. "This morning on a diphtheria case the woman wanted to know if I administered antitoxin with an epidemic syringe."—New York Press.

"Is a hymeneal one," her husband interrupted.

ORIENTAL SERVANTS.

All Around Ability of the Indispensable "Boy" in India.

In these days of loud wailing about the haughty domestic, exorbitant wages and small returns it is soothing to recall the efficiency and subversive service of the oriental servant.

In India the indispensable "boy" does everything—"boy" being a generic name regardless of age or native dignity—receiving in remuneration the equivalent of $12 to $14 a month at the most. He buys your railroad tickets, checks your luggage, settles the clamors of baggage coolies, gives your tips and shoos away the hordes of beggars, telegraphs to hotels for your rooms and takes care of them when you get there, makes the bed, brings the afternoon tea, stands behind your chair at table and serves you, brings your account when you leave and wrangles for you over its inevitable extortions.

At the dark bungalows he forages for your meals and, if necessary, cooks them. He produces washmen, sewing men and all sorts of deniers in everything on demand. He makes up your bed on sleeping cars and replenishes your supply of ice and soda. He runs your errands, cleans your boots and hats, dars your stockings and mends your clothes.

When you walk abroad, he attends you and directs you to the bazaars where you will be robbed least, receiving his commission later from an appreciative proprietor.

For every rupee entrusted to him for general expenditure he renders an account, and though he doubtless robs you gently he does not let others do it (and it is distinctly advantageous to be robbed by one person rather than a score).

He is silent and noiseless, solemn whenever you speak to him and never enters your presence with his shoes on or his turban off.

And finally, his multifarious day ended, he wraps himself in his shawl and sleeps across your threshold.—New York Tribune.

Animals With Pockets.

Did you ever think what a curious thing it is that some animals have pockets—great, roomy, fur lined vest pockets, big enough to carry a family of little ones about in? Many of the animals native to Australia and Tasmania have these convenient pockets, and so has the possum, a common animal in our southern states. The kangaroo is the largest of this species. Full grown kangaroos go sixteen feet at a jump, and so when going on a long journey or running from hunters think what a comfort it must be to Mother Kangaroo to know that her babies are snug and safe in her pocket—Exchange.

Secret Ink.

A simple expedient when one wishes to confide his secrets to paper and yet keep them in to use ordinary rice water instead of ink. It cannot be seen when dry, but turns blue when iodine is applied to it. If it be desired to make perfectly sure of the destruction of the contents of the letter after it has been read the purpose may be accomplished by writing it with a solution of iodine of starch in water. A few days later the script will have disappeared.

So Easy.

Gavin—There's one thing I like about Jones' shop, you can order your goods through the telephone and after a short wait have them delivered. Bailey—That is just what I don't like Gavin—What? Bailey—The short wait.—New York Journal.

A Reflection.

"To my annoyance," she said, "I found he had a lock of my hair. How he got it I can't imagine."

The older girl smiled oddly.

"When you were out of the room, perhaps," she hazarded.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE WORD "ALPHABET."

It Comes Through the Greeks and Hebrews From Phoenicia.

When we speak of our A B C's as our "alphabet" we are using a word hoary with age, that, as far back as we can trace it, came from the eastern shore of the Mediterranean sea, thousands of years before the Hebrews went up there and took possession of the land of Canaan. Back of the people who occupied that land before the events of Exodus were written we are not able to trace the word, for we have not sufficient knowledge of them or of their etymological history before we find them in Canaan.

It has been only within recent years that we have been able to know that the word "alphabet" came to us from the Phoenicians. Before that we supposed that it came to us from the Hebrews, through the Greek. As we say "A B C" the Greeks say "alpha beta" (the first two letters of their alphabet), which when it reached us became "alphabet." This we supposed had come to the Greeks from the Hebrews, who called their first two letters "alph" and "beth," but since then we have found that both the Greeks and the Hebrews got the word "alphabet" from the same source, which was the Phoenicians.

The people of Phoenicia had the same letters, "alph" and "beth," which have suffered but little change in sound down to our A and B. Alph meant simply an ox, the sign of it being a conventional ox's head, with the lower part of the face turned slightly to its right, and beth meant a house, which was pictured by the rude outline of a primitive dwelling, which had a superfluous line added to distinguish it from other characters very like it, as we place a tail on a Q to distinguish it from an O. So the first two letters of our A B C's were originally an ox and a house and gave the name of all of the twenty-six letters which we call our "alphabet."—New York Herald.

Fines in Germany.

The German workman who the other day was fined in a London police court probably considered that he had a genuine grievance when he complained that, in addition to the fine, his compulsory attendance at the court had lost him a day's pay. For they do those things better—at any rate, from the delinquents' point of view—in the fatherland. For what may be described as a trivial offense the worker is not compelled to attend the court, and the amount of the fine is collected from him at his house by a policeman. In the event of a more serious though still comparatively venial breach of the law, punishable by a short term of imprisonment, justice is satisfied if he works off the time by installments Sundays and holidays.—London Chronicle.

THE WAKING PROCESS.

Easy Scheme to End Your Sleep at Any Hour You Wish.

"We hear it frequently asserted that if persons will impress the thought firmly upon their minds and continue thinking about it until they have fallen asleep that they desire to awake at a certain hour in the morning they will do so without fail," said Dr. Joseph Boehm in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "But how many people have tried this method of insuring a prompt awakening at a given hour in the morning only to find their rest throughout the night disturbed and uneasy."

"The brain will usually respond to the will and awaken one in the morning near the desired hour under any circumstances, but to prevent the unbroken, uneasy sleep the adoption of only a very simple device is necessary. The last thing before getting into bed take a watch or clock and turn the hands to the hour at which one wishes to rise and gaze at this just long enough to fix the hour firmly on the retentive memory. Then if no other absorbing thoughts intervene between that and the moment one is locked in slumber the night's rest will be easy and unbroken, and promptly at the hour in the morning, as a rule, one will find oneself released from sleep and wide awake. There is no need to repeat it over and over in the mind. All this makes the brain uneasy and results in the disturbed slumber. Simply look at the watch or clock, as I have indicated, and the influence of the mind over matter will be clearly demonstrated in the morning. Try it some night and observe how smoothly this physiological fact works."

IN HIGH ALTITUDES.

The Most Common Ways in Which the Heart is Affected.

Dr. I. N. Hall, writing in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences, says that the dangers to the heart in high altitudes are the same as in other places, but are greatly exaggerated in some directions. The troubles most common and serious, he says, relate to inflammation of the heart muscle, hardening of the arteries and dilation of the heart.

The principle applied is this: The heart and lungs have an increase of functional work with each added degree of elevation and the consequent decrease in atmospheric pressure. To meet the increased demand on the circulation the heart must enlarge if the usual amount of exercise is taken. It is not unusual for acute dilation of the heart to occur after slight effort on the part of those whose arteries have begun to harden and who long have been accustomed to atmospheric pressure at the sea level. The trouble with those who suffer in high altitude, the writer declares, is that they try to do too much at first when they feel invigorated by the bracing atmosphere.

Dr. Hall adds that even an ascent in a railway train may be fatal to those who have but a narrow margin of heart strength, or the slightest exertion at such a time may produce angina pectoris. The average case of well compensated valvular disease will do as well at a high altitude as anywhere else if the patient observes proper precautions. In such a climate he is less susceptible to acute rheumatism.

Russian Vengeance.

The Russian revolutionaries have absolutely no mercy on those who betray them. It is well known that in the year 1903 a traitor caught at Odessa was bricked up alive in a cellar.

Regnier, a French spy in the pay of the Russian police, for a long time eluded the vengeance of the revolutionaries. But they caught him at last and that just at the moment when he fancied himself safe. His body was found in his cabin on a ship, which reached Antwerp. He had been suffocated by fumes of sulphured hydrogen. How this was done was never ascertained.

Compensation For Injury.

Compensation for injury in the mid die ages was in its infancy. The volume of the accounts of the lord high treasurer of Scotland, just published, tells incidentally of payments made to sufferers in the siege of Glasgow in 1544. To a carter who lost his horse $25 was paid, but $10.50 sufficed for a woman whose husband was killed. A like sum being given to the owners of two broken drums.

A Safe Rule.

"Is one apt to get bruised in tearing to ride the bicycle?"
"Not if you make it a rule to stop when the bicycle stops."
"What do you mean?"
"Some riders keep on going."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

WASHINGTONS AVENUES

DEFEAT CHRISTIANS IN EIGHT INNING

Takes Extra Long Battle to Decide Contest at Ball Park
Last Evening

The Washington Avenues defeated the Christians in an extra inning contest last night by the score of 6 to 5. The affair was a good performance throughout and featured by some mighty stylish plays. The main thing to this particular contest was hitting, and two home runs were registered. In the first the Washington Avenues gleaned one score, it being the only one on either side, until the sixth when the Christians got two. In the seventh the Washington Avenues tallied four, and the Christians tied by the score by three runs. In their half of the extra inning the Washington avenue scored the winning tally, when Sowden got a walk stole second and third and came home on the first baseman's error. The Christians could not score in their half of the eighth. The score:

EXTRA SPECIAL

Further Information Regarding our Big Window Display of U. S. Capitol Building in Soap.

The people of Charleroi are still wonderfully overestimating the number of cakes of soap in our window. To bring everyone within reason so all may come nearer the exact number, so that you stand a reasonable chance to secure one or more of the $2000 of prizes we give away, DURING THIS WEEK, we will sell direct from the window, thus quickly showing how deceptive this display is built. Come as often as possible and carefully watch the tearing down of the Capital Building, so you may correct your previous estimates by new purchases where you have overestimated.

Remember the price of each cake continues 5 cents a cake instead of 25 cents a cake and the prizes to be given away are valued at $20

Eluding the Officers.

Here is an amusing description of one of Balzac's periods of impenitence. Mery, the poet, a great friend of Balzac, was an inveterate gambler and rarely left the card table before daybreak. His way lay past the Cafe de Paris, and for four consecutive mornings he had met Balzac strolling leisurely up and down dressed in a pantalon a pieds (trousers not terminating below the ankle, but with feet in them like stockings) and frock coat with velvet facings. The second morning Mery felt surprised at the coincidence: the third he was puzzled; the fourth he could hold out no longer and asked Balzac the reason of these nocturnal perambulations roundabout the same spot.

Balzac put his hand in his pocket and produced an almanac showing that the sun did not rise before 8:30. "I am being tracked by the officers of the tribunal de commerce, and obliged to hide myself during the day, but at this hour I am free and can take a walk for as long as the sun is not up; they cannot arrest me."

OPPOSITION FAILS TO KEEP ELECTRIC COMPANY OUT OF JOB

An ordinance awarding a street lighting franchise to the West Penn Electric company passed first reading at a meeting of the council at California Tuesday evening, although a remonstrance was signed by 98 persons. A warm fight is expected before the final passing.

HAS BIG INCREASE OVER PREVIOUS YEAR

Manager August Mahieu of the Charleroi Co operative store has just completed his report for the past month, and shows total receipts of $5,313.76. This is an increase of the corresponding month last year $1,268.27, a gain of 81 per cent.

MANY FROM VALLEY ATTENDING OUTING

A large crowd left the valley by special train on the P. and L. E. this morning for Cadeside Park at New Castle, to attend the annual outing of the Odd Fellows of the valley. A number of members of the Charleroi lodge went, and parties were recruited from all along the river between Brownsville and Monongahela.
